

Rowan

The Rowan tree is similar to the Ash tree, but smaller in size.

Its leaves are small and thin with toothed edges, growing in pairs off a central stem.

The Rowan tree has white flowers in spring, followed by beautiful red berries in the autumn.

We also have Yellow Rowan trees around the school, which have yellow berries.

The bark of the Rowan is smooth, and they can reach 25 metres high.